S. F. Politicians Entertained at Dinner Party

Most successful of all contacts and meetings held concerning the building campaign, was the dinner party held on Tuesday, December 22 at the Press Club for local representatives.

The dinner was attended by Senator Walter McGovern, Assemblyman Melvin Cronin, Kenneth Dawson, Thomas Maloney and Ray Williamson. Those students representing San Francisco State were Ed Cockrum, Bud Decker, Howard Demeke, Harold Martin and Will Smith.

At this time the legislators promised one hundred per cent support of the building plan. They will formulate a bill to be presented to the State Legislature in March.

It is hoped that when the bill goes before the legislature that it will be sent immediately to the Ways and Means Committee. This would mean that action on the bill would be taken sooner.

On January 14, the State student committee will appear before the California Chamber of Commerce to explain the campaign. This group is one of the most powerful in the State and their approval would aid the cause immensely, it is said.

Lieutenant Governor George Hatfield has promised his support to the plan and it is understood that Cockrum will go to Sacramento the end of the week to confer with him concerning the whole plan.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!

All Low Sophomores and Low Senior students must have a medical and physical examination before Thursday, January 14th. Appointments must be made at once in the registrar's office.

Examinations will be given beginning Saturday morning, January 9th.

Registration to be Changed-Rose

Several changes in the registration procedure, designed to speed up the work, will be introduced here next semester, according to Bill Rose, general registration chairman.

Fees will be paid to Mr. Nee and an assistant in the new science annex, instead of in College Hall as before.

Booklets will be given out as usual in College Hall, but the new program demands that students will have to go to the science building through the door that enters the Quad, to room 123 in the new annex, where fees will be collected.

For the sign-up in the women's gym, students will enter through the east door instead of the west door.

That the registration committee also will undergo a change was revealed by Bill Rose, yesterday. "Beginning with the new semester, people working on the registration committee will be permitted to pay their fees and sign up for their classes on the day before the student body registers," he said, and added that he believed that there would be a pick-up in efficiency through this change as the committee would be able to devote its entire time to the service of the general student body. "The privilege of this early sign-up is expected to act as an incentive for people to join the committee," he concluded.

The list of chairmen includes Montez Hoover, gym; Frank Muldoon, traffic; Victoria Regier, information; Ruth Crion, distribution. Sub-chairmen are Jean Schemorhorne, publicity; and Dot Aylings, counter and files.

Gater Staff To Hold Dinner

With Ernest Lenn, newspaper man from the San Francisco News as their guest speaker, members of the Golden Gater and Franciscan Staff will hold their semi-annual dinner next Friday night at the Koffee Kup Restaurant, 18th Avenue and Geary Blvd.

"The purpose of the dinner," stated Louise Vallarino, chairman, "is to honor the present editor, and also to announce next semester's Editor-in-chief, and managing editors."

Dr. and Mrs. Roy Cave and Mr. and Mrs. George Gibson with Ernest Lenn will be honored guests of the affair.

Miss Clarice Dechent, director of the Board of Publications will act as hostess for the evening. She cordially invites all 1J and 2J students and anyone connected with the paper to attend.

Sphinx Group Hears Jas. Hall

"The early capitalist tried to put a price on everything, even himself," commented Mr. Edward Cassady, of the English Department in his speech, which he presented to the Sphinx Club, on the topic, "Rubber Barons."

Mr. Cassady continued, "American capitalists came into being with the rise of big-business after the Civil War. The typical capitalist, of the early days, was a man of the middle-class who possessed an agile, logical, mind, a keen instinct for judging personality, and a tremendous vitality. He possessed, as well, a lively disgust for idleness and inefficiency.

The desire for profit motivated his drive and materialism and individuality were his basic philosophies. The capitalist looked upon himself as the strong power which had every right to prey upon the weak. His theory was, "The end justifies the means." Lobbying, bribery, violence, and meddling in government were excusable if they aided in the "Progress" which the capitalist was furthering.

CLASS EXHIBITS WORK

The class in Oil Painting will exhibit their work next Friday, January 8, in room 213, College Hall.

The following members of the English Department and students holding editorial staff positions on the Golden Gater were asked for the opinions of the new type of paper. Their answers appear below.

Edward Cassady, advanced journalism instructor:

"I have watched the growth of the Golden Gater for several years with great interest. The timeliness of the paper was doubled when the Gater changed from a weekly to a bi-weekly. Now we shall have a tri-weekly —smaller but more timely and therefore more newsy.

"I wish the staff of the Gater the best of luck for the coming year."

Dr. Roy Cave, faculty sponsor:

"Our college is expanding. It is a step forward in creating a paper which will do justice to a newer and bigger San Francisco State College."

Jean Coplestone, Friday managing editor:

"I am very much in favor of the tri-weekly as I believe that it will give the Student Body last minute news. Also it will give more students in journalism a chance to obtain staff positions."

Max Williamson, Tuesday managing editor:

"With this edition we are giving the students a new paper. Do not be amazed at its size. In time we hope to build it up to its former size and have the added advantage of a paper being issued three times a week. This is also our first step in building the Golden Gater into a daily publication."

Bill Rose, business manager:

"A fine idea. It will be better yet if the staff can issue the paper every college day. I wish the staff all the success in making the Golden Gater a fine daily paper which will do justice to our college."

Tom Thorpe, sports editor:

"This is the initial step in building the Golden Gater into a

Thots While Strolling the Campus:

Might as well start out with wishes for Happy New Year for everybody! Rowena Minor and Max Williamson were among those who were forced to spend New Year's in bed, due to illness. * * * Can't say the same for Barbara Thomas, Dick Davis, Eva Datsen, Jimmy Morena or a few others we ran into. * * * Bob Barry spent the vacation revising the dummy of the '37 annual. Will it be good! * * * One of our lovely holiday visions: Bischoff entangled in the mistletoe with Dotty Fox at Harry Mark's house. * * * Johnny Goodwin has started his New Year off with a bang, landing himself a position in Oakland. Yep, he's our senior president. Carlie Fowler runs him a close second with a nice position at Cotati. Good luck to both of you, kids.

Congratulations:

(Cupid doesn't seem to mind the weather for apparently a number of our students have promised to "love in December as they do in May.")

To Lois Lunstedt, who was married a few weeks ago to Mr. Henry Polinchek. They're a grand couple and we wish them much happiness.

To Avis Avery, who eloped to Reno, and got caught in snow and ice and everything. All best wishes.

To Gretchen Creech, who is engaged to Forbes McKay of Porterville. She wants time to get used to her lovely engagement ring before getting a wedding ring.

I suppose it's treason to suggest that the self-styled "gorillas" that enforce attendance to various campus activities such as Rallies, the more recent President's Day, etc., might well learn courtesy even if we must put up with them to make good our show of "happy students gathered here because they want to be with us."

I guess that those of us who have other business to attend to are about the lowest creatures imaginable. State should really have a "blood purge" to rid itself of us parasites who fail to see the reason for Block "S" omnipotence.

But guarded doors and students pushed around seems vaguely or not so vaguely to suggest that there should be a swastika in the background.

Sincerely,
Not-a-"Red"

ATTENTION STUDENTS:

All students who wish to work on the N.Y.A. during the Spring semester must file applications at once. These forms may be obtained from either Dean Ward or Dean Cox, and must be filed in their respective offices.

In addition to filing their applications, new students must plan on a personal interview with either Dean Ward or Dean Cox.

OPEN LETTER

My Dear Mr. Demeke:

As chairman of the Faculty-Welfare Committee I wish to congratulate you and the student officers who worked with you upon the success of your enterprise to interest the State and Civic dignitaries in the needs of our college.

The entire program of President's Day was very effectively managed, and I believe the faculty was much impressed with the dignity and forcefulness of the day's events.

The serving of luncheon to that tremendous gathering, the athletic exhibits and games, the clearing of the dining hall, for the concert and speeches—any one of these undertakings would have involved a mature understanding of mass direction and skillful organization, but to have succeeded in conducting all these events in one afternoon—with grace, with dispatch, with good judgment, and yet never losing sight of the purpose of the project—predicates a more than ordinary gift for executive planning and a subtle discrimination.

The day was certainly a successful demonstration of the needs of our college; what is even more important, however, is that it was a powerful demonstration of the value of enthusiastic cooperation. You and your committee distinguished yourselves on Wednesday; the faculty of the State College is grateful for your efforts and justly proud of you.

Sincerely,
Ruth Witt-Diamont
Chairman, Faculty-Welfare Committee.

FROM THIS SIDE
By BILL BUCHAN

This is the first of the new Golden Gaters. New in size and new in edition dates, it remains old in policy. It is an experiment and as such needs your opinion as a guide.

If this new paper, smaller in size, issued three times a week meets with your approval, we would like to hear about it. If it doesn't we want to hear about that as well. It is your verdict that will decide the issue. A tri-weekly or a semi-weekly will be up to you.

The paper is naturally smaller. It is our pledge to you that it will grow. It will not remain in the four column size. Eventually, of course, a daily will be founded here at the college. The present change is a move in that direction.

We, of the staff, feel that it is a progressive step forward. We feel that it will allow us a better coverage of events happening on the campus than was possible under the semi-weekly. It will be a timely paper.

We also feel that it will give us an added outlet for journalistic ability, and the development of more journalistic talent through actual work. Under the present set-up we have discovered that it is not possible to develop the incoming talent through the correlation of theory and practice. In a great many instances we have found that a working knowledge of the various journalistic theories has been lacking in the students who have started their journalistic studies at the college.

Under the new set-up, with a concentrated staff working on each edition, those people in charge will be able to aid the newcomers more so than under the present set-up.

A CUTE LITTLE STORY

Somewhere we heard of a letter from Governor Frank Finley Merriam to one of the officials of the college. It seems that Frank Finley Merriam was deeply concerned about the condition of the now famous fire hose. Nice people, if you like them.

From our own personal point of view, there is but one course left open to the student body of this college if the legislature fails to appropriate funds for the replacement of College Hall. That course is a general walkout until the State agrees to replace this structure immediately.

We have every ground for such a course of action. Chief among these is the report of the San Francisco Fire Department branding this place, College Hall, a fire trap.

It is just to ask that this condition be remedied. It is just that we take such action if the condition is not remedied.

NINE VETERANS RETURNING TO GATER DIAMOND

Baseball Mentor Hal Harden Faces Lack of Material; Men Urged to Turn Out

With football all over the country a thing of the past and basketball well under way, San Francisco State College now turns its attention to the prospects of a baseball team equal to that of its '36 gridders and present hoop squad. No definite date or schedule for practice or games has been decided upon, but according to Coach Hal Harden the season will start early in February.

With only nine men returning that have had previous experience on the diamond, Harden faces the coach's proverbial problem: New material! Those returning for their fourth year competition are Wilkes, Lee and Bogdanoff; two year veterans are Iago, Mirande, Bowers, Turner, Gavron and Wood. Those not returning due to graduation, work, dropping and etc. are Purcell, Marcus, Regan, Walters and Powles.

Runar Stone and Owen Jones, both four year men on the track and field will make their debut in a baseball uniform; both plan on throwing the horsehide in the direction of the batter. Stone, having done all the track work he is allowed to do, last season earned his letter in football. Bill Abbey, who played practically 60 minutes in every football game in '36 as quarterback for the Purple and Gold will don mask, chest protector and all the catcher's trimmings.

"Pitchers are the crying need this season and anybody in this College who can pitch, who wants to pitch or who thinks he can pitch is definitely needed. I want everybody interested in baseball, who wants to play to come out," concluded Harden.

Last year's Sports Editor, Dave Schutz, will manage the nine this season. Any Freshman who is interested in being assistant manager should see Hal Harden or Schutz.

GATER QUINTET WINS FIVE; SPEEDINESS IMPORTANT ITEM

ROBERTS' OVAL ALMOST READY

With the new track at Roberts' Field nearing its completion, State's track outlook appears to have additional promise as the squad begins work in earnest for the approaching season.

N. Y. A. labor has strained the rocks and lumps out of the soil and laid a thick layer of fine dirt along the runway. When this is flattened out and hardened, the Gater squad will be set as far as practice sessions are concerned. State's home meets will be held at Kezar Stadium.

Men returning for another season on the track and field for State are: Hopkins, hurdler and high-jumper; Ebert, weights; Kelnhofer, broadjump; Hurst, mile; Cota, mile; Kuder, 880; Shreeve, 2 mile and mile; Robinson, 440, 880; Lindlow, 440; Leavitt, sprints; Driscoll, mile; Harkness, pole vault, high-jump; and Prather, hurdler and sprints.

Although no official schedule has been completed as yet, Coach Dave Cox stated that dates are definitely set for the Chico and California Aggies meets, with the remainder practically decided upon. The Aggie meet will be held at Kezar, March 13, followed by the Chico meet at Chico, March 20.

The inter-class meet is set for February 27 at Kezar and the cross-country race is tentatively put for February 13.

from last year's reserves, the five straight wins seem to look as though State is going places.

Remaining schedule for the team is very tough as can be seen:

Atkinson, Wilkes Are Hi-men Coach Farmer Airs Opinion Tough Schedule Ahead

By "MICKEY" SCHWASS

Flashing across the sport horizon comes another of those startling athletic incongruities which leave the aigsperts alibing to their disillusioned followers. Early in 1936 it was Max Schmeling who confounded the aforementioned gentlemen; later in 1936 it was the San Francisco State basketball team. Local sport authorities were unanimous in declaring that State would be a "has-been" team. They magnanimously allowed as how maybe in a couple of years Coach Farmer could build another sensational five but they could see no hope of a winning quintet in the near future. The sporting gentry were right in their conclusions. The ranks of the Purple and Gold casaba tossers were woefully thinned by graduations, etc. Harry Post, Merv Chioino, both swell forwards, had become but fond memories insofar as tanking points for the 1936-37 season was concerned.

With only Cy Atkinson and Bill Plutte left out of last season's powerful five, Coach Farmer was forced to use green men in key positions. Off the cinder track Coach Farmer plucked little Kenney Wilkes; off the gridiron he snatched the mighty mite, Billy Hammond. Using these fast, tough, little men as forwards Farmer fished around and brought up Ken Johnson, a rangy, reliable guard who should shine before the season ends. With Madigan, DeBisschop, Huse, Barbano, and Luntz in reserve, Farmer has run up a string of five victories by decisive digits. The powerful Royce Athletic Club, runners up for the Northern League championship, fell before the fast breaking, hard charging Golden Gaters.

"I think that we have a basketball team, but next week-end's games will definitely decide it. All the fellows are playing exceptional ball and it is my opinion that Bill Hammond and Ken Wilkes combine to form the fastest pair of forwards on the Pacific Coast! Cy Atkinson, who is hot as a stove poker, has high point honors, scoring an average of 18 digits per game. Kenny Wilkes, forward, is running close second with an enviable record of 12 points as an average per contest. Yep, I really think we have a pretty good basketball team." Thus was the statement issued in an interview with Dan Farmer, mentor of the Purple and Gold hoop squad.

Watching the games, the first team seems to line up as follows: Atkinson, center; Wilkes and Hammond, forwards; Plutte and Johnson, guards. Forming the reserve members are: Madigan, center; Huse and Barbano, forwards; DeBisschop and Luntz, guards. With Plutte and Atkinson the only veterans, DeBisschop from the '45s last year and Johnson and Barbano

Roberts Field, Building Drive Mark Term Events

Past Semester Filled With Activity; President's Day Climaxes Fall Events

As the term near its closing stages, several outstanding events and activities of vital interest to the majority of students at State, deserve to be mentioned once again.

In the sporting field the outstanding achievements were the football victory over S. F. J. C. and the moral victory by holding the highly-touted Chico team to a tie.

The acquisition of the old Recreation Park, and its being made into the home field was quite an event. It was the first time that State ever played on a field that they could call their own. It was built up with bleachers, field lights, and is a good field. Work is still going on to improve the field for track and baseball.

The fight for new buildings and the sending of the delegates to see the governor was the beginning of a real campaign to get safe, up-to-date, and adequate buildings for State. The fight still goes on with the same enthusiasm. The future course of the fight will depend upon whether or not State will be voted the appropriations which it deserves.

The first President's Day, honoring the president of the college, Dr. Alexander C. Roberts, was a huge success.

Socially every social event on the calendar was very successful, the Soph Strut, the Junior Prom, and the Chicken's Ball being the high spots.

Insight Given On New Book

An insight into his as yet unpublished book on Knut Hamsun will be given the Scribes Club next Monday noon by Dr. Elias Arnesen, instructor in English.

The book is in the form of a critical analysis of the famous Scandinavian author.

The last prominent speaker on the Scribes' Club calender was Bruce Fox, one time newspaper editor, at present a writer's agent, a critic, and an author of popular adventure stories.

Mr. Fox outlined the fundamental plots used by all short story writers, and illustrated his talk by showing how a story is built up on one of the plot types which he named "precipitated action."

"A writer can not make his living by waiting for inspiration," advised the author. "A good story is built like a good dog-house. Hard work does it."

Curtis Zahn, president of the club, has announced the complete sell-out of the official magazine of the organization, the Westscribe.

Group Pledges New Members

The membership drive, held by the Advisory Council, is now at a close. Many new names are on the list to make up the membership for the coming term.

New members will be officially welcomed at a tea to be given in the Activities Room on Wednesday, January 13, at 4 o'clock. Dean Ward will be the honored guest and it is hoped that the Student Body officers will be present.

Election of officers took place Monday and Tuesday. Results will be tabulated and published in a later paper. Those elected to fill the various offices for the Spring Term '37 will be inaugurated at the tea. The following students ran for the offices: Chairman, Kay Bailey, Carola Beeta; Vice-Chairman, Alice Dawson, Dawn Wilson; Corresponding Secretary, Marguerite Bellis; Recording Secretary, Beverly Guichard, Adele Hopper, Eleanor Walsh; Historian, Evelyn Geinzer, Helen London; A. W. S. Representative, Dixie Drake, June Ransom.

Dorothy Basch is general chairman, Faire Barry, chairman of the entertainment, and Kay Bregler chairman of refreshments for the tea at which the new officers will be installed and new members welcomed.

Major Offered In Journalism

Based upon the suggestions made by several city editors of large newspapers in San Francisco to Mr. Hugh Cheney Baker, in regard to what they would consider essential to college journalism, there has been built up a journalism major, which is being seriously considered as a new major to be added to the English curriculum of San Francisco State.

The aim of the new major would be to teach journalism as it is practiced in the everyday world, not as it is taught for the school needs. The major can be easily arranged by proper adjustment within a few practical courses.

The opinion was voiced by Mr. Tom Irwin of the San Francisco Chronicle, that the state college is especially well situated for giving courses in journalism; in a metropolitan district we can give the best practical training—experience with metropolitan and cosmopolitan ideas and events. He feels that journalism can be taught, and that the future newspaper people will be drawn more and more from college trained people.

daily newspaper. It will give those interested in journalism a chance to obtain staff positions. It will give the students a timely view-point on the latest happenings on the campus.

Seniors Hold Dinner Friday

Johnny Goodwin, president of the graduating class of December '36 has the following to say to the members of the high senior class.

"You have one more obligation to fulfill before leaving your Alma Mater. That thing is this—to choose a speaker to represent the class at your graduation and, to appoint three members for the purpose of representing you on the graduation committee. It is imperative that every member of Jan. '37 be present at the dinner to be held in the co-op Friday evening at 6 o'clock. The first thirty to sign up will only have to pay twenty-five cents. The remainder will be required to pay forty cents.

"Again I remind you this is the last request I shall ask of you.

"Please come, Hi Seniors, we'll have a grand time."

Registrar's Notice

1. Students withdrawing from the College at the end of this symester must file withdrawal cards signed by the library, the financial secretary, and the book store. These may be obtained in the registrar's office.

2. Report cards will be issued through the student post office by Thursday, January 28.

3. The Dean's Committee is calling a meeting of the January graduates in room 210, College Hall, on Friday, January 22, 1937 at 3:00 o'clock. At this time State teaching credentials and grade reports for the Fall semester will be distributed and the enclosed cards collected.

Roberts Visits Sacramento

Today Dr. Alexander C. Roberts attends the annual meeting of the State Board of Education at Sacramento, to assist in the Board's farewell to Mr. Kersey, director of the Board for 8 years. Mr. Kersey will take over the duties of City Superintendent of Schools in Los Angeles on February 1.
